

Lital Helman

Lital Helman is a Fellow with the Kernochan Center for Law, Media & the Arts, focusing on Copyright Law and Technology Law. Her current research explores contemporary tensions between copyright and technology in the digital age. Her recent article, "The Best Available Technology Standard" (with Gideon Parchomovsky), explores the liability standard of webhosts for copyright infringement, and will be published in the Columbia Law Review later this year. Lital holds an S.J.D. (Doctor of Juridical Science) from the University of Pennsylvania Law School (2010), which she pursued as a J. William Fulbright scholar. Lital graduated with honors from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem with a dual degree in Law and Philosophy in 2005.
