This pledge must be read and signed before we will be able to process your application.

The purpose of the Clarence Darrow Death Penalty Defense College is to promote excellence in representation of persons accused of crimes for which capital punishment is being sought. One of the ways to address this need is to work directly on cases that participants in the Darrow College are currently involved in. Everyone attending the Darrow College understands the need to work collaboratively on these cases with other participants and faculty. I therefore agree that anything I learn about any of the cases we work on at the seminar is to remain confidential. I also acknowledge that any materials and information provided in this seminar are confidential and may not be disclosed except to other defense practitioners. The materials provided in the seminar are licensed to participants for use in the defense of criminal cases only, and any other use is a violation of copyright laws. By signing this pledge I agree to abide by this understanding and keep all the information confidential. My signature also indicates that I am a defense attorney, and I am not involved in prosecution in any capacity.
