

CONTRACTS II
PROFESSOR JACOBS
SYLLABUS
SPRING 2008

We'll pick up this semester where we left off in November. After reviewing last semester's examination and the materials on damages, we'll turn to the topics of contract terminology and interpretation, followed by material breach, relational contracting, and third party rights.

The final exam, like last semester's, will be an open-book, take-home examination, and will count for your entire grade, subject to the rules regarding class attendance and participation set forth below. I expect you all to attend class every day, and to be prepared to discuss the assigned cases knowledgeably. I reserve the right, in my sole discretion, to lower the examination grade of, and even to fail, anyone who does not attend class regularly or who, in my opinion, is regularly unprepared for class.

My office is in Room 744. My e-mail address is mjacobs@depaul.edu; and my telephone number is 312-362-8141. Please do not hesitate to see me or contact me with any questions you might have about the materials, the concepts, or any other matter pertaining to the course. My office hours are Mondays and Wednesdays from 8-9 and 1-3, and at any other mutually convenient times.

The page references set forth below are to the Burton text. I may from time to time assign other cases not contained in the text.
